In the past, Melusina was in love with King Basim, with whom she had a romantic relationship and their love was true. However, due she was sterile, she could not haven children, so Basim decided to marry her sister Dahut, which this made Melusina feel great pain and hatred towards her sister, for the reason that Basim chosed Dahut over her.

For years suffering from her pain at losing the one she loved the most, Melusina sought revenge for taking her lover away from her, so she secretly conspired with King Usveldt, who did not accept the love between his son, Prince Agloval with Sh'eenaz. They made a pact to kill divers and blame the vodniks, with Melusina taking the form of a Kraken and a human princess, to prevent the prince's romance with her niece, and starting a war as part of their revenge.

Melusina appears before the council, saying that she agrees with Sh'eenaz and her union with Agloval to bring peace, but clearly the kingdom does not agree with this, and her sister the queen tells her not to get involved in this matter, since it is something that does not concern her, while Melusina answers that she does, since she is part of the royal family. Melusina provokes her sister when she remembers her relationship with the king before disappearing in bubbles.

Secretly, Melusina traveled to the surface taking the form of Princess Nispen of Maribor, to be presented at a celebration of Bremervoord as a suitor for Prince Agloval. It was introduced when a fisherman arrived fatally wounded after his boat was attacked by what he claimed were vodniks, leading Agloval to hire the monster hunter, Geralt of Rivia.

Later, when war was declared and both kingdoms began to enlist, Sh'eenaz went to her aunt to express her discontent with the war and her sad breakup with Agloval, to which Melusina understands what it feels like to not be able to be with the man she loves. Melusina mentioned that since the last council meeting, she had been working on a potion that would allow her to take the human form like her lover and live on the surface, and at the same time stop the conflict. However, Sh'eenaz hesitates knowing that the transformation would be painful and could leave scars, but Melusina advised her to keep the potion in case he needed it.

Melusina returned to the form of the princess of Maribor when Agloval, who has decided to accept the princess as his wife. However, just at that moment, Geralt and Jaskier entered, where the witcher revealed that he discovered the truth who was really attacking the ships, that everyone believed it was the vodniks, that in reality it was a creature that took the form of a kraken, that is, a mermaid, after finding a peridot on one of the ships, which only royalty of the mermaids can carry. The only one in royalty who can change shape is the sea witch, Geralt knows this because he saw her, everyone saw they, at the party, and that right now she was among them. This caused Melusina to reveal herself and the king told her to run, she attacked the guards, fighting Geralt, before escaping into the sea.

Notes

- Because of the anger she felt towards her sister, she overlooked the simplest answer to her problem, which would have been to use her magical arts to make a potion or spell to get herself pregnant.

Trivia

- In some variations of the Little Mermaid story the Sea Witch is a evil relative of the royal family.
